CASA BOTELHO

Evoking the sensuality of the Roman God it was named after, the Eros Console would make a spectacular statement piece for an entryway or hallway. Offered in two sizes, an exquisite marble slab from Decorum Est sits atop a power-coated steel frame which is available in a choice of pitch black, bronze and dark bronze. The Eros Console will add character and charm to an interior scheme without compromising on luxury. T: +44 (0) 795 617 0735 | www.casabotelho.com

PLANIKA FIRES

If you dream of a fireplace that is more than a couple of metres long, Planika's extensive range of customisation options allows this to come true. Whether you want your fire to be integrated into a wall or act as a room divider, Planika's glazing options allow anything to happen. The anti-reflective glass ensures a crystal clear view of the flickering flames which can be accompanied with decorative accessories, including ceramic logs, pebbles and glowing wires placed on a layer of embers. Brief: to curate and dress a modern, contemporary flat using Casa Botelho furniture

A luxury duplex in Chelsea has been unveiled, the second collaboration between property developers East Eight and furniture and interiors house, Casa Botelho. It took a year for the bespoke collaboration to bear fruit, with the fully revamped home on the market for £5.25 million.

Across three floors, the flat features an open-plan kitchen/diner and living space, three bathrooms and three bedrooms, with one an en-suite loft. The home benefits from large windows and striking marble throughout, and in the master and guest bedrooms moody blues and blush accents create an intriguing palette.

A central focal point is the wooden staircase, which has been lavishly designed. In fact, every space East Eight created was embellished by the Casa Botelho team. 'We had fun playing with colour, proportions, finishes and adding our sense of masculine glamour to this magical building,' says founder, João Botelho.

Featured designs include the Bacco Armchair in Ottone Velvet, Cupid Corner Chair in Emerald Luxe Velvet, Ermes Pouf in Mustard Cowhide and Rio Fabric, Gibson and Kangaroo Martini Tables, Lorraine Rug and Diana coffee table. There were many other incredibly talented firms involved, including Thomas Zanon-Larcher Photography, Moon Ray Studio, Droo Projects and LC Developments.
