

Virginia Coyle, Outreach Teacher and Gallery Assistant

Virginia Coyle is a Bay School teaching artist. She is a lifelong resident of Virginia. Her paintings are inspired by her family. Virginia is self-taught in all her painting and other skills. Her favorite medium to work with is watercolor, because it is so unpredictable. Virginia loves to paint mermaids, fabrics, children and folk art scenes. She also enjoys being creative by drawing, sewing, and participating in other forms of artistic projects.
