

FOLD

FOLD

- “Honey, not antibiotics recommended for coughs” National Institute for Health and Care Excellence (NICE)
- “Evidence showed that honey could be effective at reducing the symptoms of acute coughs due to upper respiratory tract infections” *
- Manuka honey contains an antibacterial compound called MGO which has traditionally been used by the Maori people

MGO is Methylglyoxal – a special compound
unique to Manuka Honey

100% New Zealand origin

Traceable right back to the beekeeper

Strictly tested for quality, purity & potency

Certified for natural MGO content

Great tasting honey

manukahealthuk.com @manukahealthuk

*The guidelines from the National Institute for Health and Care Excellence (NICE) and Public Health England (PHE) have been developed after looking at the best available scientific evidence