HOW TO BECOME BOTH STRONG AND FLEXIBLE WITH

ERKO JUN

Erko Jun is a KSW Pro MMA Fighter and one of our #TEAMGORILLAWEAR athletes. He was born in Bosnia and Herzegovina and moved to Belgium at a young age. Erko was a skilled martial artist until he severely injured his leg during a training session and was forced to stop. After switching to bodybuilding, he won several competitions and became a fitness model. He eventually returned to martial arts and made his professional debut in 2018. Erko Jun has been a Gorilla Wear athlete for years and is a true inspiration for many. Because of his past as both a fighter and bodybuilder, many people wonder how he is so flexible and strong at the same time. We asked the man himself.

QUICK FACTS

BIRTHDAY: JUNE 28, 1990

NATIONALITY: BOSNIAN & BELGIAN

HEIGHT: 178 CM / 5'10"

WEIGHT: 99.8 KG / 220 LBS

Scan the QR code for more information on the exercises, the perfect form, and more detailed explanations.

STRENGTH

What are your favorite strength exercises that not many people know about?

“The two exercises I like to do that few people know about are the Zercher Squat and Sumo Deadlift. Both are great to improve your overall power and very beneficial for fighters.”

What makes the Zercher Squat different is the placement of the barbell. When you perform a Zercher Squat, you hold the bar in the creases of your elbows in a half bicep curl position instead of in your neck as with a Back Squat or on the front of your shoulders as with a Front Squat. The difference between the Sumo Deadlift and the Conventional Deadlift is the position of the feet and hands. During this exercise, you use a wider stance and grip, allowing you to keep your back more upright.”

Do you have any tips for getting stronger and building muscle mass?

“If you want to get stronger and bigger, my advice is to progressively overload your muscles. You can do this in a variety of ways, but I recommend increasing the weight each week, even if it is a small increase. This may lead to you being able to perform fewer reps, but that’s not a bad thing. Go for fewer reps but a solid movement. As you get stronger you will go back to a higher number of reps. Finally, to get stronger I also recommend taking more rest between your sets. Give your body about three minutes to recharge.”

FLEXIBILITY

What are your favorite flexibility exercises?

“I always stretch after every workout to stay flexible during my fight training. You have lots of different stretching exercises and you can perform them in different ways. I prefer to do leg stretches after heavy workouts, especially hamstring stretches.”

Why would you advise people to focus on flexibility?

“Stretching at the end of your workout can help boost your flexibility, reduce the risk of injury, and decrease muscle tension in your body. It can even help improve your performance the next time you work out. It only takes a few minutes and I’m sure everyone would still like to be able to wipe their ass. So keep stretching guys!”

Do you have any tips for becoming more flexible?

“Take 5 to 10 minutes each day to stretch. This can even be done right after getting up or before going to bed. This will get you into a routine and you will thank me later. Which stretching exercises are good for you varies from person to person. Also, not all muscles need to be stretched post-workout. Focus on hitting only those exceptionally tight areas either from the workout or from the daily posture. If you have injuries, talk to your doctor about which stretches are right for you.”
