AT BPW Sciences, our mission is to help you take care of your skin from the inside-out, which led us to create Molecule 32.

We have dedicated 25 years to researching and developing a natural solution to help all skin types.

ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTY MILLION YEARS AGO...

The entire Earth was like one giant rainforest. The world was young, fertile, lush and teeming with life and energy. There were no man-made toxins or chemicals and Mother Nature provided everything the Earth needed to sustain and regenerate life. Since those early days, natural processes have been hard at work condensing all the energy and fertile lushness of the old world and transforming it into a rich, hydrating material known as humified organic matter (HOM).

From this ancient earth we extract Polyfulmate, within which all the benefits of this early life and youth are captured in a highly condensed natural material. And like many things that come from the rainforests today, our scientists have found that Polyfulmate®, a powerful and unique fulvic acid extracted from ancient Earth, will enhance and improve the quality of our life and appearance.

Our Star ingredient is Fulvic Acid

Unlike other Fulvic Acids, we have patented a process to gently extract Molecule32 Polyfulmate® Fulvic Acid from ancient humidified soils formulated in Pennsylvania.

Polyfulmate® delivers essential oils, minerals and vitamins deep into your skin. Our nutrient rich formula revitalizes your skin's texture and appearance.

The BPW Sciences laboratory and Molecule32 has perfected a method of extracting Polyfulmate from the most pristine sources of humified organic matter in the world. The extraction process retains all the nutrients and electrolytes from nature in Polyfulmate, so it can rejuvenate and re-energize skin cells.

All Molecule 32 skincare products contain M32 Polyfulmate® - an Aptogen with the power to stimulate nutrient absorption.

What does this all mean? This means that every Molecule 32 product has the power to make nutrients more absorbable, provide advanced hydration, restore natural pH balance, moisturize and repair skin cells to give you a youthful glow!

Along with our powerful M32 Polyfulmate®, our award winning Ph.D. Chief Scientist develops and fortifies our original formulas with organic and natural bioactive antioxidants, botanicals, herbs, essential oils, vitamins and minerals, to deliver the most natural and absolute skincare solutions from the inside-out!

A QUICK STORY ABOUT POLYFULMATE®

The story of Polyfulmate began almost 30 years ago, in Chernobyl, site of the worst nuclear power plant accident in history.

The aftermath of the explosion affected an estimated 7 million people in the former Soviet Union and throughout Europe. During that time, our chief scientist Gary Black, was a consulting scientist to the United Nations. He served on an UN sponsored scientific board to study the effects of radiation on glandular and cellular health. Gary's work focused specifically on the 500,000+ children who were exposed to radiation.

During the course of his research, he noticed that one remedy was yielding dramatic results. This remarkable treatment was a local mud which was being applied directly to terrible burns, lesions and other affected areas of the skin. It seemed as if this mud was capable of working miracles in healing skin and cellular deformities. Intrigued, Gary collected samples of the mud and upon analysis, was found to contain high levels of humic and fulvic acids. He extracted these compounds, added botanicals and essential oils and formulated them into tinctures and topical creams. His results were nothing short of incredible.

Throughout his time in Belarus, Gary was introduced to a three-year-old girl named Nadia Andreosoff. Due to her exposure to the radiation, Nadia suffered from recurring skin lesions and Erythema of the skin. By only the 6th day of treatment, including baths containing Gary's fulvate extract, and applications of his products, Nadia's open lesions were closed, and the skin discoloration started to fade. Nadia's amazing recovery affirmed Gary's belief in the effectiveness of his formulas. Gary continued to successfully treat many of the survivors of the Chernobyl disaster.

Over the course of the next 20 years, Gary and his team continued to study the composition of the ancient mud and refined his formulations for the relief of damaged skin. The BPW Sciences' family of skin care products (including Molecule32) are the results of more than 20 years of research, development and commitment to healing and protecting your skin through the power of nature.

What is Eczema?

Eczema is a chronic condition with no known cure. It makes your skin dry, red and itchy. Eczema flare ups are usually accompanied by a constant itch that can be debilitating and / or decrease one's quality of life.

Your skin has 3 layers. In healthy skin, the tough outer layer keeps foreign substances such as bacteria, viruses, and allergens from getting in. When you have eczema, the outer layer of skin is weak and more susceptible to inflammation caused by immune cells in the body. When you scratch your skin, it contributes to the breakdown of the skin cells even more and thus making it easier for foreign substances to get in. Once these foreign substances have broken through the skin barrier, immune cells alert the body that it's under attack.

Once under attack, the immune cells travel to the second layer of skin. Once there, the immune cells release substances that cause the familiar redness and rash on the skin's surface.

Although these substances normally go away after a short time, if you have atopic dermatitis, the cells don't turn off. They continue the inflammatory process, so the skin continues to react, even when your skin looks clear. Even when you have no visible rash, the underlying inflammation is still active beneath your skin.

In the past, eczema has always been thought of as having external triggers. However, in recent years, the consideration that eczema may be caused by internal triggers have surfaced, though not proven, it seems to make tremendous sense. As noted above, eczema seems to be a combination of both external and internal triggers. Maintaining great skin has never been just about the outside, it's how you take care of yourself internally as well.
