THE BODY'S HGH RECIPE

An area of your brain called the hypothalamus tells the pituitary gland when to make HGH and when to release it in the bloodstream. It's a crucial part of how your body develops over time. Once the pituitary gland receives the message from the hypothalamus, it releases HGH into the bloodstream. From there, the hormone interacts with cells throughout the body, telling them things like, "Produce more muscle fibers" or "Burn fat for energy."

In our 30s, HGH starts to decline and decreases 15% for every decade of life, causing various age-related changes.

As we continue to age, we start noticing:

- Lower Energy Levels
- Weight Gain
- Dull Skin
- Trouble Sleeping
- Frequent Aches & Pain

PRODUCT OVERVIEW

WHAT DOES RENEW DO? WHY IS IT DIFFERENT THAN OTHER PRODUCTS?

Renew is a daily, advanced supplement that comes in a powdered form and supports the natural production and release of HGH in the body by righting the scale, making it the first supplement on the market to aid the multiple specific pathways by which HGH declines. In other words, Renew helps trigger your body's natural regeneration process so you can take control of the aging process and feel like your younger self.

HOW DOES RENEW WORK?

Renew works with your body to help naturally slow the cellular aging process by unblocking a key signal in the brain and stimulating the body's natural production and release of HGH. Renew harnesses the power of four scientifically advanced blends that work synergistically. They are:

- A powerful combination of the amino acids L-Arginine, L-Citrulline, L-Lysine and Beta-Alanine helps suppress the production of somatostatin – a hormone which inhibits HGH production – again allowing for greater release of HGH into the body
- A restorative combination of gamma-aminobutyric acid (GABA), Lutein and Zeaxanthin Isomers supports quality sleep, which is integral for HGH production
- A host of minerals and cofactors support natural HGH production and cellular health and viability
