

The sleek and stylish design of the freestanding Herschel MALIBU makes it the perfect choice in outdoor heating for those looking for a powerful, portable solution. Ideal for both home patios or restaurant terraces, the commercial-grade Malibu comfortably warms those close by - creating cosy radiant warmth from a pleasant orange glow that adds to the ambience of any outdoor space.

Malibu utilises Herschel's long life woven carbon fibre lamp to provide a stylish, efficient and versatile heating solution. Easy to operate, simply plug in and switch on, the Malibu has two power levels (50% and 100%) for additional flexibility as well as featuring a 00-24 hour timer to allow the hours of operation to be set. It can also be controlled by a remote control that is supplied with the heater.

Completely silent in use and odour free in operation, the Malibu incorporates tip-over safety protection to switch the heater off in the event it is knocked over. The Malibu can also be used indoors as a portable heater - providing a fantastically versatile heating option that can be easily moved to wherever extra warmth is required such as a conservatory or colder room.
