Dear Partners,

There has been a great deal of recent conversation regarding the safety of vaping and e-cigarette products, and we want to address it straight on.

In light of the recent concerning news, Ananda Brands would like to share our ongoing commitment to consumer safety and the highest-level manufacturing processes. We prioritize transparency and trust, and with these values in mind, want to reassure you that all ECO Therapy products adhere to the industry's highest standards of quality and reliability.

What does this mean?

ECO Therapy does not use the derivative of Vitamin E, Alpha-Tocopherol Acetate, Vegetable Glycerin (VG), Propylene Glycol (PG) or Medium-Chain Triglyceride (MCT) oil in any of our products. Our products are all-natural, they use the highest grade of ingredients and undergo extensive testing to eliminate contamination. You can be confident that our products contain only the ingredients specified on our ingredient lists and are free from other materials. ECO Therapy ingredients are published on our website and may be viewed on the site's ECO Product page.

ECO Therapy is committed to delivering a safe product and partners with manufacturers who share these principles. Our affiliate, Trinity Terpenes, brings technical excellence to formulation and manufacturing by creating high quality products backed by science-driven processes. Our vaporization hardware is manufactured with CCELL[®] technology, adheres to all regulatory guidelines, and undergoes stringent testing, including evaluations for heavy metals per state regulations.

Where do we go from here?

While CBD is still a growing industry, ECO Therapy's base materials and standard products have been used in vaping for years, by millions of users without negative reaction. Our clean, all-natural ingredients, combined with rigorous testing protocols deliver the highest quality products you can trust. We are honored to serve as your source for all-natural full spectrum CBD oil, and will continue to do so as an industry steward, focused on not only performance, but consumer safety as well.

Thank you for your loyalty and support.

With gratitude,

Jason Durnett

CEO, Ananda Brands
