

Disney Junior Mickey Mouse Basketball Hoop Review (Delta Children)

EDITOR'S REVIEW

OVERALL EDITOR'S RATING:

What It Is

The Disney Junior Mickey Basketball Hoop gives kids three ways to grow and play with Mickey Mouse. First, it's a basketball hoop with Mickey ears backboard. Use the pump to inflate the basketball and shoot some hoops. If you're using this outside, be sure to fill the base with water or sand. There are seven height adjustments between four and five feet, allowing the basketball hoop to grow with your child. The back side of the yellow, red, and black hoop features a ring toss game. See who can toss the most rings around Mickey's mouse tail. Three rings are included. And when you're not playing a game, measure how big you've grown with the growth chart.

Is It Fun?

We like that this basketball hoop grows with your child and has more than one way to play. Both basketball and ring toss are fun ways to help preschoolers with motor skills and coordination. Parents will like that this can be used indoors or outdoors. The only thing we don't like is that some of the growth chart measurements are hidden even when the hoop is extended to its full height, but that's not a huge deal.

Who It's For

The Mickey Basketball Hoop is for ages 3 and up.

What To Be Aware Of

Some assembly is required.

