The Delta Children babyGap Deluxe Play Yard has everything you need to serve as your little one's home base away from home, including a bassinet, changing table, snap-on hanging storage and a removable toy arm to engage your newborn's visual development. At the same time, it has a quick, compact fold that makes it easy to pack and tote when you're on the go. "The playard has so many additional features," our product tester told us, rating the babyGap deluxe 5 out of 5 for value. "And is much less expensive than [similar products]!"

"I was genuinely surprised at how lightweight this playard was in comparison to another Pack-n-Play that I have," our product tester told us, also giving the babyGap Deluxe 5 out of 5 for portability and ease of use. "It easily broke down and slid back into the carrying case." She also added that she loved the fact that set-up instructions were printed right on the side of the bassinet. "It made it so easy and convenient to put together," she told us. "Especially as someone who loses paper directions!" (We hear you!)

Our tester loved the wheels built into one side of the travel crib—and it really shouldn't come as a surprise at this point that she rated the babyGap Deluxe 5 out of 5 for features and design. "This is so important, as when I'm working in my kitchen, I can easily push the playard closer and into my vantage point while I'm cooking."

The mesh-paneled bassinet was also a winner. "It's excellent quality. It's firm and fits securely into the bassinet insert," our tester said. The mobile on top is pretty mesmerizing too, so you can eke out a few more uninterrupted minutes as you get ready to hit the road. "My infant stared at it for 25 minutes," she said. Needless to say, she loved this feature!
