Glass Blowing Process

Glassblowing begins by taking molten glass on the end of a long pipe and blowing air into it in order to inflate the glass. While the glass begins to cool, the skilled artisan will gently turn the pipe and add color to the glass in order to form the design they choose. There are many varieties to choose from as many different glass designs and colors exist.

Hand Blown Means Unique

As a result of each piece of glass being made by hand, each glass is truly unique. Size and color may vary slightly. The techniques used to produce the glasses may naturally leave tiny air bubbles in the glassware.

Unrivaled

The process of hand blowing glass results in thick and durable glass. This quality cannot be replicated by modern glass production factories. If you hold one of our hand blown glasses in one hand and a regular machine manufactured drinking glass in the other, the difference is crystal clear. Our traditional Mexican hand blown glassware is unmatched.
