The issue I'm having is the following:

First my set-up when it was working just fine 30 mins ago.

Where Is Utilities On Mac

MacBook Pro 15'

Bought in 2011

Originally with Lion 10.7, upgrade through AppStore to 10.8 currently on 10.8.4

Filevault enabled in Security, so my drive is encrypted

Activated guest account with safari access only

Mac Os X Utility Software

What happened is that I was using the machine just fine, I logged off and gave another user access though the guest account. The dialog came up said that it needed to restart the machine so that it would present a safari only interface. Clicked OK and this is where I am at.

Apple Mac Utilities

The machine rebooted into the recovery mode (Mac OS X Utilities) and I have tried everything, and I cannot get back to my normal login screen

I've tried to go into safe mode I still get the recovery mode.

I've tried to reset the PRAM, it asks me for my filevault password I give it and I still get the recovery mode

I've tried single-user mode and I still get the recovery mode.
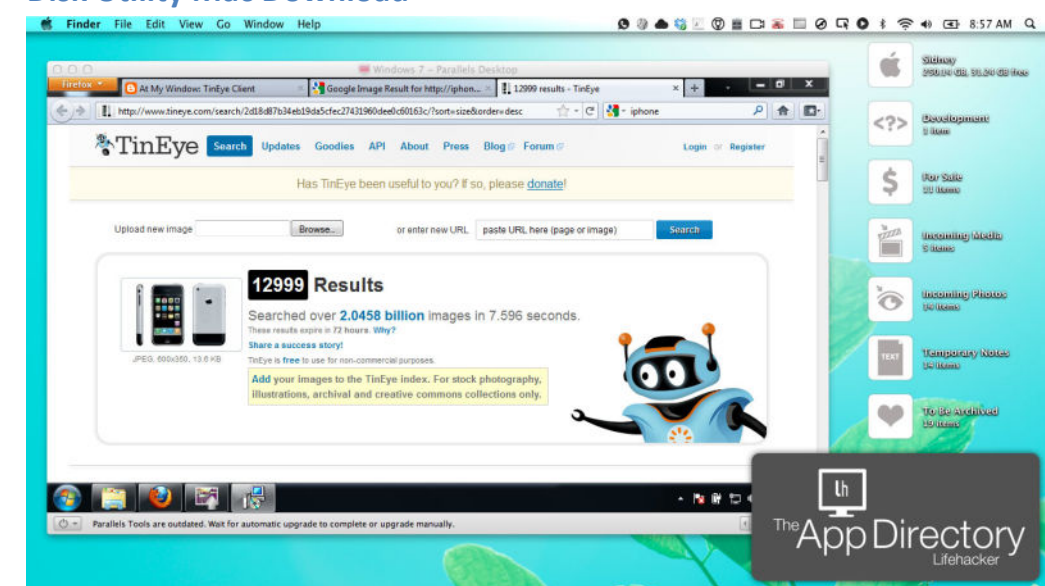

Any suggestion would be welcome.

Thanks in advance for any info.
