"StarCraft II: Wings of Liberty patch 1.3.0 is now live!," Blizzard announced earlier this week on the Battle.net forums.

At the time, the release was solely available from within the StarCraft II game, by means of software update.

"This patch features adjustments to race balance, notable Join Custom Game improvements, support for the upcoming Grandmaster League, and several bug fixes," Blizzard said.

Now the standalone (downloadable) patch installer that brings StarCraft II to version 1.3.0 is now available from Softpedia.

The update requires that players have the full StarCraft II: Wings of Liberty game installed.

As noted by Blizzard, several improvements have been made to the Join Custom Game section.

Specifically, the Details panel has been removed, with map details now being shown inside a tooltip for each game.

Players can now bookmark their favorite custom games, while the number of times a game has been bookmarked will be shown in that game's tooltip, Blizzard said.

After updating to version 1.3.0, StarCraft II players will notice that games are now organized into several pages to make finding their desired game type easier.

As described by the game developers themselves, these are:
