

Focus on Strain and Sprain Injuries

While Firefighters uphold their duty to maintain public safety and respond to an emergency scene, they face a significant risk of musculoskeletal disorders, which are injuries affecting muscles, nerves, and joints. These disorders often lead to long-term pain and disability if firefighters are not adequately trained and conditioned against them.

The Treadmill Factory, with over 30 years of serving Canadians, will help provide the necessary equipment for firefighters to prepare them for any challenge they face in the line of duty and their long-term personal wellness.

More to Fitness than just Muscle

Being fit for duty is the most basic requirement for every firefighter – both career and volunteer. With over 30 years of equipping Canadians with the biggest selection of highly customizable premier brand equipment, we can facilitate the perfect fitness and health solutions that meet the specific strength, endurance, and functional training requirements firefighters rely on.

Facility Planning & Design for Success

As a new build or existing space, your stage of planning or concept development is a tailored experience, eliminating obstacles to concept and design. We combine space and equipment that meets your unique facility floor plan requirements and specifications, including user demographics and budgets. We then bring your vision to life using 2D and 3D rendering for cutting-edge design that highlights accessibility and functionality of your space.

Installation & Project Management

From coordinating flooring to ensuring your equipment package is properly installed, our installation professionals will also have your layout spatially configured for aesthetics as well as optimal functionality and usage. Plus, we can provide training for your staff to ensure proper use and care for machines and accessories to maximize safety and longevity.

Service

The Treadmill Factory initially began its operations by repairing treadmills for other stores and end users in 1988. Today, we can proudly say that our company has one of the most advanced service departments in all of North America providing customers with access to knowledgeable technicians in addition to offering the best service possible. Our nearly 80,000 sq.ft facility in Markham, Ontario allows us to:

- » Respond to service calls within a 24-48hr period
- » Provide senior technicians managed by the VP of Commercial Sales
- » Stocked parts to provide faster turn over time
- » Repair electronic boards in house to help save huge repair costs
