

Boost Staff Health, Lower Healthcare Costs, Protect ROI

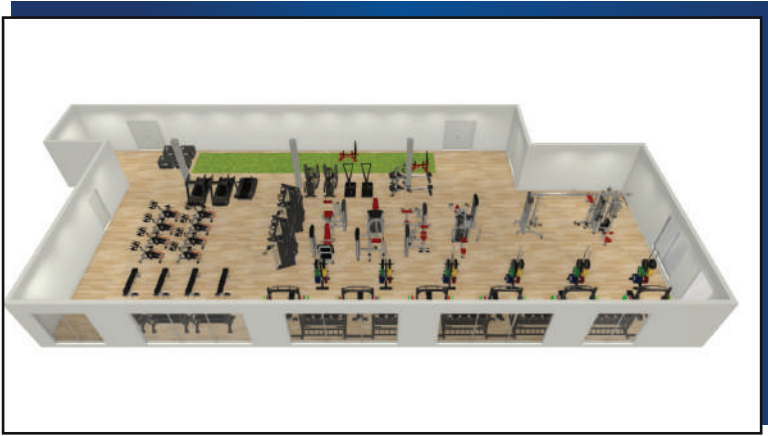

The most successful healthcare providers are worksites that offer health and wellness programs to their employees. Hospital settings are excellent places to offer wellness programs for healthcare workers for a variety of reasons: they work in a high-stress environment where there are psychological, emotional, and physical demands, reports show shift work and long hours lead to weight-gain, musculoskeletal injuries, and pain. These are all outcomes that are directly impacted by wellness and healthcare.

For over 30 years The Treadmill Factory has delivered on-site fitness solutions for healthcare staff to easily prioritize work/health balance. Boost energy, improve body strength, cardiovascular fitness, flexibility and more with our premier line-up of cardio, strength, and functional training equipment and accessories with integrated Smart technology like Touch Screen and Wi-Fi-enabled equipment. And it's all customizable to your space.

Already a well-known fact, employees who participate and are engaged with their employee wellness programs are more likely to be healthier, happier, more productive, and have fewer sick days, which means better organizational productivity, staff retention, lower healthcare costs for staff and management, and higher ROI.

Expert Facility Planning & Design

When your hospital partners with the Treadmill Factory's Facility Planning & Design experts, we not only advise on various training and wellness resources needed to meet goals and objectives, but we'll also go deeper with a complete Needs Assessment.

As a new build or existing space, your stage of planning or concept development is a tailored experience, eliminating obstacles to concept and design. We combine space and equipment that meets your unique facility floor plan requirements and specifications, including user demographics and budgets. We then bring your vision to life using 2D and 3D rendering for cutting-edge design that highlights accessibility and functionality of your space.

Installation & Project Management

From coordinating flooring to ensuring your equipment package is properly installed, our installation professionals will also have your layout spatially configured for aesthetics as well as optimal functionality and usage. Plus, we can provide training for your staff to ensure proper use and care for machines and accessories to maximize safety and longevity.

Service

The Treadmill Factory initially began its operations by repairing treadmills for other stores and end users in 1988. Today, we can proudly say that our company has one of the most advanced service departments in all of North America providing customers with access to knowledgeable technicians in addition to offering the best service possible. Our nearly 80,000 sq.ft facility in Markham, Ontario allows us to:

- » Respond to service calls within a 24-48hr period
- » Provide senior technicians managed by the VP of Commercial Sales
- » Stocked parts to provide faster turn over time
- » Repair electronic boards in house to help save huge repair costs
