

POLICE

EXAMPLE 1 A MUST

A law enforcement officer's primary job responsibilities are to protect the safety of their community in time of need. As with all first-responder units, these brave men and woman must call upon their skills at a moment's notice and may need to demonstrate a high level of physical fitness in order to save a life or protect their own.

Having superior fitness is a basic requirement for every law enforcement officer to be fit for duty. However, their physically polarized work environment – long periods sitting while on patrol, then jumping into action in a split-second, can cause certain mobility issues.

At the Treadmill Factory, we believe law enforcement officers deserve every advantage they can get. With over 30 years of equipping Canadians with the biggest selection of highly customizable premier brand equipment, we can facilitate the perfect fitness and health solutions that meet the specific postural, strength, conditioning, and flexibility needs law enforcement officers rely on.

Facility Planning & Design for Success

When your police force unit partners with the Treadmill Factory's exceptional Facility Planning & Design experts, we not only include premium brands with expanded functionality and performance, but we'll also complete a Needs Assessment.

As a new build or existing space, your stage of planning or concept development is a tailored experience, eliminating obstacles to concept and design. We combine space and equipment that meets your unique facility floor plan requirements and specifications, including user demographics and budgets. We then bring your vision to life using 2D and 3D rendering for cutting edge design that highlights accessibility and functionality of your space.

Installation & Project Management

From coordinating flooring to ensuring your equipment package is properly installed, our installation professionals will also have your layout spatially configured for aesthetics as well as optimal functionality and usage. Plus, we can provide training for your staff to ensure proper use and care for machines and accessories to maximize safety and longevity.

Service

The Treadmill Factory initially began its operations by repairing treadmills for other stores and end users in 1988. Today, we can proudly say that our company has one of the most advanced service departments in all of North America providing customers with access to knowledgeable technicians in addition to offering the best service possible. Our nearly 80,000 sq.ft facility in Markham, Ontario allows us to:
