- This book is filled with positive messages. Its key driving principle - the concept increasingly embraced by schoolteachers the world over - is that of a 'growth mindset'. This is a way of thinking that describes the belief that one's success depends less on in-born talents and much more on time, effort and energy. That is, "I may not be great at swimming yet, but if I practise I will improve".
- This bright, playful picture book encourages children to try their best and not to measure their success against the successes of others.
- Filled with a diverse cast of characters and relatable real life scenarios for children.
- This book recognises that we each have our own unique set of skills and talents, and not everyone is great at everything - and that's okay!
- Authored by CBCA-shortlisted Cori Brooke, the author of the popular This Girl Can and This Boy Can picture books.
- Illustrated by the talented Sinead Hanley, illustrator of the bestselling We Are All People and well-known for her colourful, bright art that pops off the page.

BACK COVER BLURB

*At times you may feel you can't do all of the things,
You still can fly high because you have your own wings.
You're right on your way when you know and believe
That being your best is the best you can be*

The Best You Can Be encourages children to celebrate their natural abilities and talents, and to persist with the things they find more difficult. To not give up builds resilience. To try is to improve. Doing your best is how you can be the best you can be.

A story collection about women who broke the rules without apology.

Lawless Ladies

Written by Angela Buckingham

Illustrated by Rachel Tribout

Hardback illustrated book

- This book is the third title in the celebrated and successful Heroic Heroines series, featuring Powerful Princesses and Courageous Queens.
- This collection of stories features the little known tales of 10 bold women who broke the rules of their society throughout history, from all corners of the globe.
- Instead of just imparting the simple facts about these adventurous and daring women in an encyclopedic style like other volumes in the market, this book - through its beautifully realised, high paced story-telling - seeks to recreate the experience of these women. This is a collection of tales that allow for emotional exploration, character identification and stimulation of the imagination.
- Brilliant, fast-paced tales expertly written by celebrated author Angela Buckingham bring the women's stories out of the footnotes of history and to centre stage. As with the other books in the series, children and adults alike will enjoy the incredible and often outrageous stories.
- Features stunning noir-style portrait and scene illustrations by Australian-based artist Rachel Tribout.

BACK COVER BLURB:

A story collection about women who broke the rules without apology.

Step aside Robin Hood and your merry men, these outlaw stories aren't fairytales for small children. They are true tales of real women that every young person should know.

Adventurous, daring and often amusing, the leading women in these outrageous true stories prove that it was not just men who sailed the seven seas, held up stagecoaches and conned their way into fortunes. These women went after what they wanted, refusing to be bound by the law or society's expectations of them.

These outlaws are: Charming Knowing Acting Confounding Vengeful Canny Conning Negotiating Redemptive Wise

These fast-paced, action packed tales are stories that have been lost, stories that have remained untold. The stories come from around the world and across history, but the single thing they share is that each is about a truly lawless woman.
