

Simon King Brushwood Robin Nester

Developed in conjunction with TV's naturalist and wildlife cameraman Simon King, this Brushwood Robin Nester is based on an award-winning design

This unique habitat has an open easy access landing platform, which Robins prefer, with the nesting/roosting area tucked inside away from prying eyes of predators.

- Robust yet lightweight weatherproof bird nester
- With rattan landing platform and low dividing wall separating the nesting/roosting space
- Natural brushwood materials give a natural appearance
- Easy to attach into hedge, a fence or in an open outbuilding with fixing wire
- Suitable for other small birds such as wagtails and spotted flycatchers
