QUARTZ

Quartz countertops are engineered stone surfaces. They combine the best of natural stone with modern manufacturing processes. This results in a surface that's comparable (and often superior) in beauty to granite and marble while offering greater durability.

SINTERED STONE

Sintered stone is made by compressing powdered stone with extreme pressure and heat until it forms a solid piece. This process makes it one of the hardest materials on the market, perfect for high-traffic areas like kitchens and bathrooms.

OUTDOOR

Great outdoor furniture brings comfort and function to your deck or patio; it allows your indoor rooms to move outdoors. A weather-proof table and chairs, for instance, bring your dining room outside and relaxing rockers, or Adirondack chairs create a living room that has a cover of blue sky for its ceiling.

You can choose doors that stand out or doors that blend in, doors that swing, fold, or slide, doors that open up your living space, or doors that keep the noise out. Whatever your priorities, it pays to know your options and weigh up the benefits so that you can find the right doors to complete your home transformation.

FABRICS

Upholstery is the work of attaching a furniture frame with padding, cushioning, and fabric or leather textile covers. The material makes a significant difference to the visual identity of the chair, and while the interior elements may not be visible, they make a big difference to the comfort and ergonomics of the piece.
