In an old, old house, on an old, old street
lived a boy named Jack.

Jack was happy because he was going to London to visit his cousins.

But he was sad, too, because he had to leave his dog Snowy at home.

At the airport, Jack watched all the people coming and going—all in a hurry.

DEPARTURE

Some people were happy and laughing,
but some people were crying.

Jack saw an old man smiling,
but his eyes were teary.

On the plane, he noticed
the sad old man again.

This is Jack.
He is sort of cheeky...
and likes to ask unusual questions.

This is Mama.
She answers all
the questions—
no matter how odd they are.

See the world through Jack's eyes.

In this book, Jack is at the airport when he notices travellers crying... and smiling. Why do people cry when they are happy?

In this series

Jack Is Curious is inspired by the inquisitive and insightful mind of the son of Linda Locke, the co-author of Agnes and Her Amazing Orchid.
