THE KUNG FU FORCE
AND THE MANIACAL MONSTER RIDE

ROBIN LEONG

ILLUSTRATED BY ERIC WONG

THE KUNG FU FORCE

AND THE MANIACAL
MONSTER RIDE

For my Mom, the strongest person I know. Love you!
—Robin Leong

For my wife, Tan Geok Lin.
—Eric Wong

THE KUNG FU FORCE
AND THE MANIACAL
MONSTER RIDE

Written by Robin Leong

Illustrated by Eric Wong

E

EPIGRAM
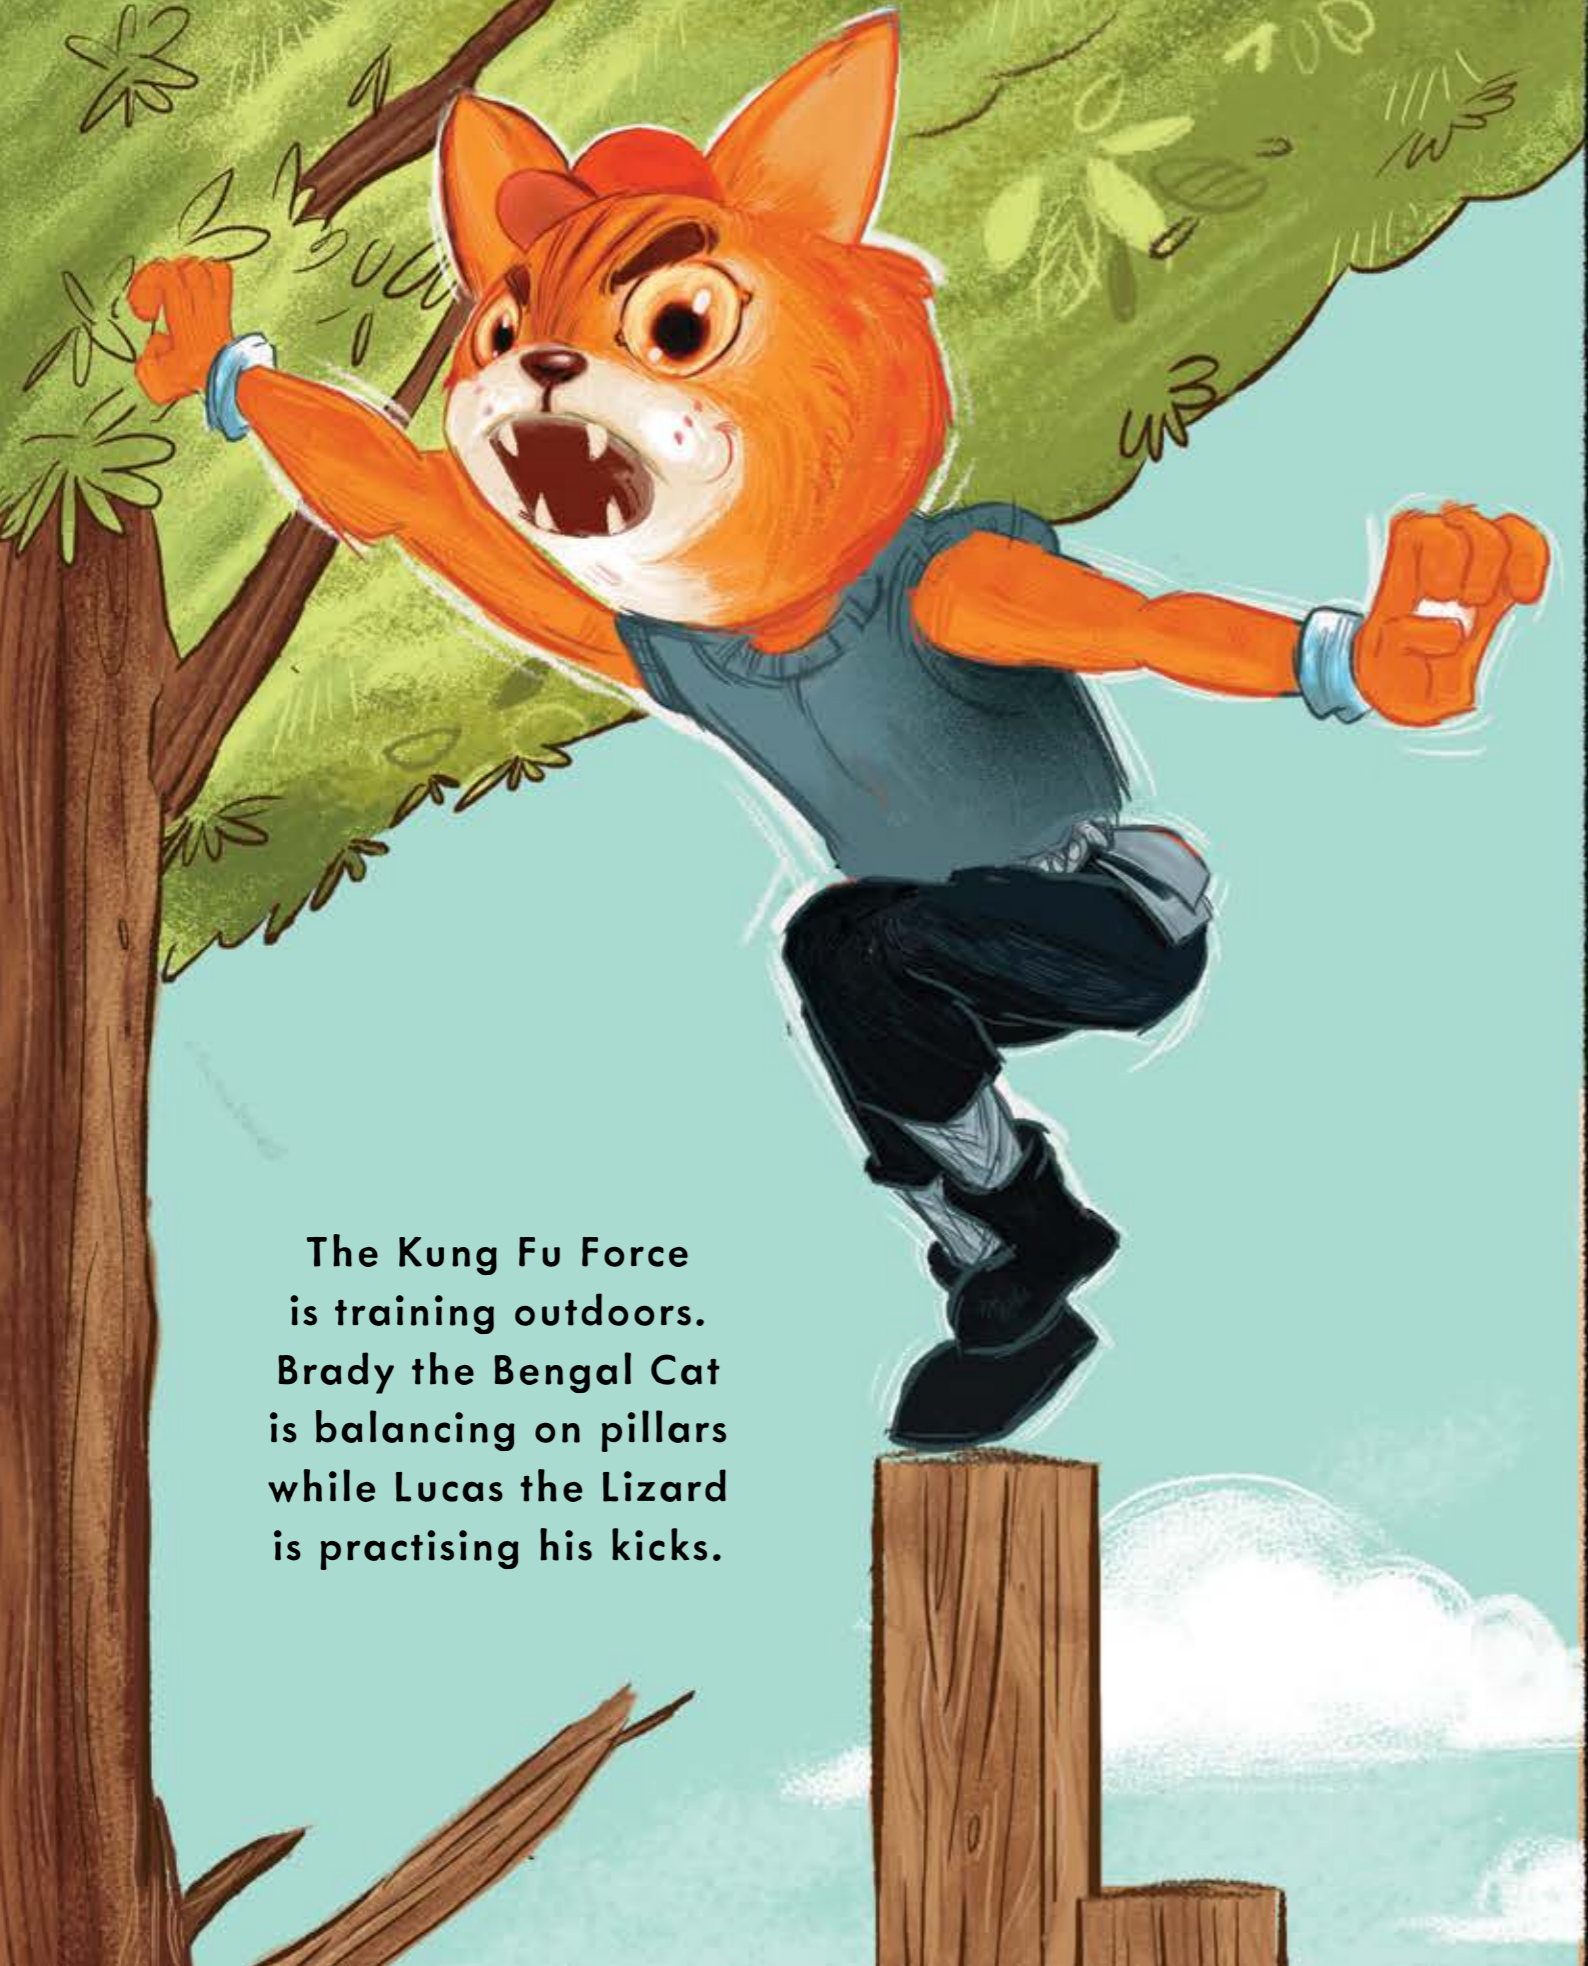

The Kung Fu Force is training outdoors. Brady the Bengal Cat is balancing on pillars while Lucas the Lizard is practising his kicks.

And Coco the Cockatoo?

She's hard at work, spinning spirals.

Can I kick as high as Lucas and balance like Brady?

Shifu reminds his students,
"To be good at something,
you must work hard."

And Coco?
She spins harder and harder.

"YES," says Lucas,
and kicks faster
while Brady pumps
his fists in the air
and jumps higher.

I'm so tired.

Shifu senses that a break is needed. He grants everyone the day off to have fun.

Meet the Kung Fu Force—Coco the Cockatoo, Lucas the Lizard and Brady the Bengal Cat. Together with Shifu Seong, they are called on to save the day!

The Kung Fu Force is at an amusement park when a roller coaster is about to fall out of the sky. Have no fear, the Kung Fu Force is here! But unless Coco can muster up all her strength and focus, things might not go well.
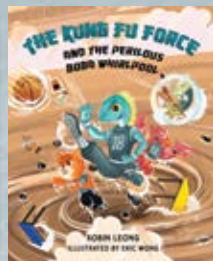

Robin Leong is a renowned kung fu master and actor. He became a household name in Singapore, starring in several popular TV series, including the police drama Triple Nine and the martial arts drama The Challenge (谁与争锋). In 2002 Robin established Ch'i Life Studio, a premier martial arts studio with thousands of young students worldwide.

Eric Wong is the artist and illustrator behind the miniature 3D creations in the bestselling Karung Guni Boy, brought to life in an art installation by National Gallery Singapore.

Also in the series