On a Saturday morning, the last thing Aish wanted to do was to sit in a classroom.

She wished she could go to the park, climb trees and ride her bicycle.

Instead, Aish watched Mr Firdaus write line after line of maths problems. His voice was like the distant hum of traffic.

It's Saturday morning and Aish is cooped up in a classroom doing maths problems. But not for long... Something extraordinary happens when her doodles come to life! Now the fun begins.

A fantastical tale that showcases and encourages creativity.
