SEACHANGE SCREENS
GREY & CHARCOAL

Our oceans are filled with plastic, most of it from single use packaging. Some of it you cannot see, it has degraded into microbeads, but it's still there, entering the marine food chain and causing havoc. It is estimated that in the Pacific, between California and Hawaii, there is a swirling ball of plastic and plastic microbeads roughly twice the size of Texas. It has been dubbed the Great Pacific Garbage Patch. Most of it is the wonder plastic of this century, PET.

PET is a marvel; durable, inert, recyclable and capable of being reused into a wide array of functional products, but if it is in the oceans it is in the wrong place. Put it back in the right place...in your office environment. Our 100% PET screens are made of fully recycled PET which has been remelted, turned into a spun microfilament and then pressed and moulded into elegant functional floor mounted screens. Seachange screens come in modules which can be joined together in straights and curves with plantation grown timber joiners. They provide non-structural acoustic and visual barriers and can be quickly moved to allow a quick change of office space, suited to today's dynamic work environment.

Drink bottles, billions of drink bottles, choking up landfill and polluting the oceans with microplastic shards. Well here is a sweet and simple application that helps you and helps the environment. We take PET drink bottles melt them down, spin them into microfilaments and then compress those filaments under pressure and heat to make rigid desktop office screens. They are frameless, rigid, pinnable and have excellent acoustic properties. They provide a non-structural visual and acoustic barrier.
