HOW TO BATHE A DOG

We know anyone can wash a dog and we're not here to say you're wrong. But we've learned a thing or two working with groomers and vets and we want to share what we've learned. Nobody likes stinky mutts, sudsy eyeballs, or itchy skin.

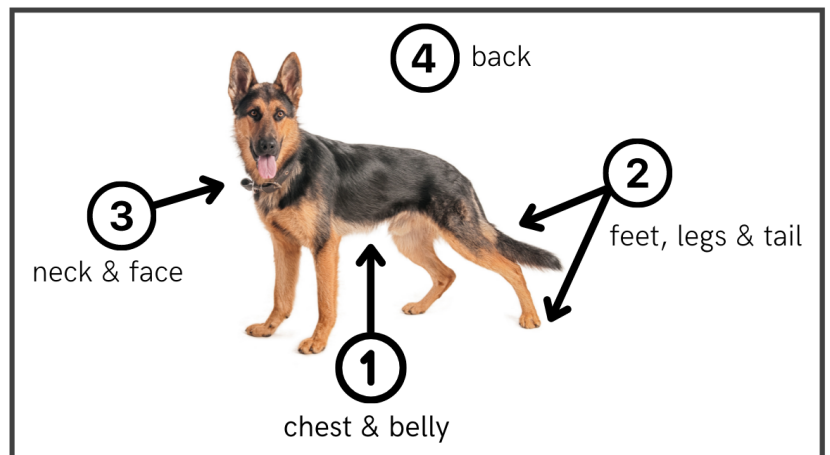

Here are a few tips to get the most out of your products and make bath time more pleasurable for your pooch!

1. Always give lots of affirmative and positive communication during baths
2. Always use a gentle touch and massage in the direction of the hair growth (to avoid tearing the sensitive hair muscle).
3. Whenever possible, dilute products, and use a diluted sponge on the face.
4. Have products pre-mixed and ready before starting the process.
5. Apply shampoo starting where oily sebaceous glands are located: 1. chest & belly, 2. legs & feet, 3. neck & face, 4. back.
6. Let the pet soak for 5 minutes (except when using whitening products)
7. Rinse well. Apply conditioner & let soak if dog has sensitive or dry coat and skin.
8. Towel dry, follow with air dry if desired.

- Even natural shampoos and conditioners create chemical reactions. Allowing them to sit for 5 minutes allows the surfactant material to work.
- Follow dilution guide, generally mix at least 5-10 parts water to 1 part product for home use.
- Use lots of praise and remind your pooch that clean dogs get more hugs.
