Bio

Lisa Walbridge is the founder of the Merry Alchemy jewelry brand, whose main purpose is to provide floral-inspired adornments to women who appreciate vibrant colors, distinctive designs, and the aesthetic of a bygone era.

Before she ever strung her first fateful bead, Lisa was classically trained as an architect at the University of Notre Dame. After being introduced to the world of jewelry art and design in 2007, Lisa recognized that design of jewelry, rather than buildings, was her true passion. She launched Merry Alchemy in 2010, which takes its inspiration from shabby chic décor, flower gardens, ornate patterns, and vintage styles.

Merry Alchemy is simply about celebrating the loveliest aspects of the world and transmuting individual components into singular jewelry pieces that bring joy and delight to the wearer.

Originally from Scituate, Massachusetts, Lisa now lives in a tiny hamlet overlooking a horse farm in New York's lower Hudson Valley with her husband and four-year-old daughter. When she is not digi-angsting over her professional bio, she can be found playing pretend with her daughter, channeling her inner pastry chef, fiendishly devouring a tall stack of novels, and hiding green veggies in toddler-friendly foods.

Inspiration

As a fan of anything from the romantic past, I love the idea of the elegant garden party. Imagine sipping refreshing iced tea while surrounded by friends in a splendid garden setting. Flowers abound and send heavenly sweet scents through the air. You are wearing your favorite summer dress that feels so comfortable you could live in it. The summer breeze gently tickles your arms and cools your neck from the summer sun. The Sunlit Blooms Collection is meant to conjure that garden party experience into your reality, so that every time you wear a piece, you can almost feel the breeze in your hair, taste that summer tea on your lips, and smell the scent of fresh flowers, even in the midst of winter.
