

Here's the Best of French Beauty Products for 'La Fête Nationale Française' on 7/14. In Memory of Bastille Day!

Posted By Stevie Wilson on Jul 12, 2022

'La Fête Nationale Française' ...
This Is the Day to Celebrate This Very Important Day in French History!

You need to look no further than TikTok to see the enduring effect of French culture on the world: #frenchgirl has had more than 38.7 million views on the social media platform recently.

There may be no better day to celebrate our love of all things French than July 14, when Francophiles everywhere will be enjoying food, dance, music, faire l'amour, and more to commemorate the fall of the Bastille (in 1789). It is a joyous occasion on which we fete the values of freedom, liberty, and fraternity — and the essence of what it means to be French. Vive la France!

Hoping to indulge like a true #frenchgirl this Bastille Day? We have some beauty recommendations to soften the effects of all the festivities and ensure you put your chicest face forward:

Shaeri Multi-use Care Oil ($39) is a divinely scented blend of prickly pear seed, jojoba, sweet almond, macadamia nut, and safflower seed oils that can be used on the body, hair, and in the bath for its protective, hydrating, and treating properties.

Fête Nationale Française

Stevie Wilson, LA-Story.com