Epidote, Titanite and Magnetite Pseudomorphs + Clusters

Green epidote with an unusual and rare pseudo hexagonal shape form from the Ruskoh Mountains, Pakistan. They also have black "magnetic" magnetite within and green titanite on the outside, adding more layers of complexity to these very complex and strong energy crystals.

The pseudomorph is a crystal that has transformed from one mineral completely into a new crystal over time, yet retained the shape of the original crystal. It is thought that these were indeed once magnetic and are now epidote. Pseudomorphs hold the energy of slow and steady yet powerful transformation.

My initial journeys with these crystals take me to the times of the Druid's where our hearts were intertwined with the trees. A time of the wizards of Avalon, Merlin, King Arthur and the oral traditions of magick and nature lore.

These crystals have a strong masculine presence and are powerfully detoxifying, I often feel the energy of these in my crown and heart. They show me what still needs healing in my heart and connect me to the Emerald Ray of light, deep in the Inner Earth Realms.

Magnetite is intensely protective and helps create an impenetrable barrier around your aura. It will also reveal the truth. Combined with the magnetite is a strong shadow work crystal.

What is fascinating about these is they have undergone a process of per-mineralisation where minerals replace the organic material yet preserving the cellular structure in remarkable detail.

In particular, the lady in the lake who arises on the silvery waters of the lake when the moon is full and rising, she will show herself and teach you the ways of the feminine mysteries. The Lady of the Lake is known as various feminine fae goddesses and also merlin's sister Viviane, a druid enchantress.

Petrified Wood

Wood from 100 million year old trees in Madagascar have crystallised to form this wonderful crystal of the ancient ancestors and ancient tree wisdom energy. A stone that helps you embody the light that you are and digs your earth star chakra deep into the earth. This crystal is also great for past life healing and ancestral line healing.

Pyrite

A golden octahedral pyrite from Peru has the most intensely energising yet grounding energy. It is great for soul retrieval, especially if you are a star seed that has not grounded enough into this lifetime. It's also fantastic for mental focus, will power, addictions and starting new habits. A great crystal for mental focus and strength of the mind.

Rainbow Tourmaline

Fantastic rainbow coloured tourmalines represent all of the playful fae realms. These crystals spent nearly a whole week in my fairy tree coming alive with the fairies there. Green, brown, pink, green, black, even blue (Indicolite) and purple lepidolite in a matrix mainly of white quartz and some flake/plate like white cleavelandite. The creamy pink coloured matrix is albite. Cleavelandite is a crystal that helps with transitions and great change, and life events.

Tourmalines are all essentially an earth element crystal. The greens and pinks are more related to the heart healing joy and wonder. Blue connects us to the ray of truth in our hearts, but truth that is expressed. Black is protective and a great ally for the shadow aspects of ourselves as is the brown tourmaline. Lepidolite is a deep deep relaxant and calms us into states of one-ness like meditateness and also assists sleep and insomnia.

You will also find silvery and golden shiny mica on these, which acts as coats of silk protection for the aura and is very energising and uplifting of the mood. It works with the higher chakras to bring in enlightened energy.
