

Create a nest box diary

It will be very exciting when it looks like birds might nest in your nest box. A great way to remember all that happens is to keep a nest box diary. I have created a diary page for you to use.....

	March 3rd
		Put the date here. You don't have to write something every day... just when you see something interesting happen...
I am really excited because today we saw a blue tit bring some grass into the nest box. We hope this means that they are going to start building their nest in our nest box!		You could draw a picture here or take a copy of an image from your nest box, if it is connected to a computer.
		You can write about what you have seen here. Make it as descriptive as possible

It is easy to forget when everything happened and how exciting it was when the nest building starts, when the first egg was laid or when you saw the eggs hatch... your diary will be a great keepsake!

Maybe your teacher could run a competition for the best diary.....
