

March News

Cherry Crop Update

Across California, cherries are seeing a great bloom start to bloom set with the good weather we've been having. The winter brought lower than average rainfall with a lot of cool days and lukewarm afternoons, which allowed for plenty of chill hours to accumulate for the trees.

Early districts and varieties are seeing full bloom already, and the later areas and Bing variety are seeing the popcorn stages of the bloom set. Our buddy Auggie was happy to check the blooms this week too! This early in the season, it's hard to tell where the crop will be, so for now we let mother nature and the bees do their work!

Currently, we anticipate that the earliest varieties will be ready around April 18th, moving from the southern districts up to the north.

Stay tuned- more to come!

Chipotle Cherry Glazed Flank Steak

If you're looking to liven up your meals, look no further- Sunrise Fresh has got you covered! Head over to our most recent blog post and check out our Chipotle Cherry Glazed Flank Steak- you won't be disappointed!

And while you're there, be sure to get on our email list to be the first to hear about any new products, recipes, promotions and more!

*Sincerely,
The Sunrise Fresh Team*