How to Play

- 1 Hold the woodblock in your non-dominant hand, make sure the woodblock lies flat.

- 2 Strike the top of the woodblock in the centre to create the crisp and distinctive sound.

- 3 The hollow body creates the unique "sharp crack" sound. You can also use a softer mallet which will create a deeper tone.

Did you Know?

Also known as the Chinese woodblock due to its relation to the Ban time-beaters used by the Han Chinese.

The western woodblock is typically made from teak or a similar hardwood.

It is categorised as a slit drum, which is a family of carved, hollow instruments
