

Agroforestry, Tree Planting Initiative Kenya

Developer: TIST

Intervention: Tree Planting

SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT GOALS

Overview:

Two decades of impactful community-centered tree planting successes later, the TIST project in Kenya is still growing! With each passing year, a growing community of farmers are including agroforestry on their land as part of the TIST program. But the benefits in carbon payments after trees are planted takes several years to cash in. The initiative closes that gap in conservation finance by supporting farmers right from the beginning of their carbon removal journey. This means their positive efforts for the environment are always rewarded, including when the finance is needed most.
