

How Kvadrat Re-Wool is Made

Re-wool is crafted using 45% recycled wool. It's a rich upholstery textile with a sustainable profile. It's partly made by reusing scraps from Kvadrat's yarn spinners in the UK.

The designer explains that the idea was to create both an honest and environmentally friendly textile with a poetic feel by recycling material from Kvadrat's own production.

It's reminiscent of colorful stitching on a darker background and creates a dynamic play on furniture.

Re-wool holds the EU Ecolabel, Greenguard Gold, HPD and EPD certifications making it an incredibly sustainable choice.

By choosing to re-upholster existing furniture in Re-wool or purchase new furniture in Re-wool, you would be significantly improving your carbon footprint.
