

MODUS

Modus direct their efforts in six areas of impact: carbon emissions, resource use, effects of material ingredients, plastic pollution, waste generation and impacts on people.

Conscious Products

Modus furniture is made in their Somerset factory using 100% renewable electricity and a local supply chain to keep furniture miles as low as possible and embodied impacts down.

Modus are a seaqual initiative licence holder, offering furniture upholstered in fibres made from reclaimed ocean plastics.

Modus use renewable materials that have been sustainably harvested and recycled materials to ease the burden of resource extraction. Over 90% of the collection is available with FSC certification. Their ReForest programme plants a tree for every ten items supplied, supporting indigenous communities to restore lost ecosystems, providing biodiverse habitats and improving food security for years to come.

People Positive Actions

Modus work alongside local community groups & the design departments of our local schools and educational settings offering alternative provisions to young people by donating quality materials to enable the teaching of confidence building, hands-on skills.

The recycled cork stools “Bob and Michael” are partnered with Movement On The Ground. 5% of the sales of these stools supports their mission to provide a dignified and sustainable response to the global refugee crisis.
