

COLOMBIAN

Santa Marta Montesierra

ROAST: MEDIUM

Deeply rich and opulent with milk chocolate-like notes.

▲ Picking fresh cherries

Our Colombian coffee is sourced from Montesierra, a farmer group located in the Parque Nacional Sierra Nevada de Santa Marta in the northeast of Colombia. Montesierra organic coffee farms dot the mountainsides in this region of Colombia, overlooking the Caribbean Sea. Here, the mountains rise dramatically from a calm beach to rainforest conditions at ideal coffee elevation. Cloud cover over the mountain ridge captures moisture, producing high quality, large, rich coffee beans under rainforest shade. The coffee balances milk chocolate flavors with berry notes: a truly rich experience.

FAMOUSLY DELICIOUS: Roasted medium to highlight its body and depth, this coffee is emblematic of Colombia's coffee heritage as 'the richest coffee in the world'.

JIM'S

ORGANIC COFFEE

From farm. To roast. To brew.

Learn more about our single origin coffee on our travelogue at JimsOrganicCoffee.com

About Montesierra

In 2008, a group of 10 certified organic farms with an interest in taking great Colombian coffee to the market and receiving fair prices and wages for their members, bonded together to form Montesierra. Now exporting coffee to South Korea, Japan, United States, Europe, Montesierra farmers have made their mark as growers of consistently high quality organic Colombian coffee. In part, this is due to the region's mountains and moisture conditions, but also the the quality control methods employed by all farms in the co-op. They are meticulous in the harvesting of coffee, only picking ripe red cherries. This process of selective picking, rather than strip picking of all coffee cherries, produces the most mature, flavorful beans.

Region

Santa Marta, Magdalena, Colombia

Variety

Caturra, Castillo, Colombia, and Typica

Harvest

November - February

Altitude

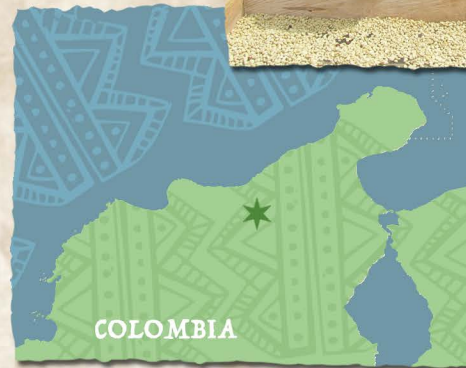

900 - 1,300 meters

Certifications

USDA Organic, Utz, Rainforest Alliance

Mountains of Sierra Nevada de Santa Maria ▼

▲ Jim examines drying coffee with coffee farmer Nelson at Los Amigos farm

Jim's Notes

Of the many places I have visited, I found the rainforest conditions to be more remote - and the fauna to be somehow BIGGER - than any other place.

