

ETHIOPIAN

Sidamo Nura Korate

ROAST: MEDIUM

A bold mocha character balanced with spice and lemon.

Nura Korate is a part of the Sidamo Coffee Farmers' Cooperative Union, located in the Dara district of the Sidama zone of Southern Ethiopia.

Year after year, this particularly remote and isolated coop, which carefully grows heirloom varieties of coffee arabica, delivers a distinctly citrus, lemony taste. Our medium roast highlights the lemon and also brings forth notes of spice and mocha for a powerful and balanced brew. Make it strong!

JIM'S NOTES: From my first experiences with cupping and tasting specialty coffees, I can still remember the distinct note of lemon coming through in Ethiopian Sidamos. So while great Ethiopian coffee runs the gamut of taste profiles, it is lemon we seek.

About Sidamo Nura Korate

The Sidama Coffee Farmers Cooperative Union (SCFCU) represents over 47 coffee producing cooperatives located throughout the Sidama Zone of southern Ethiopia. Fair Trade Certified since 2003, the SCFCU develops fair relationships between farmers and buyers, and facilitates international export.

Known for high quality organic, shade grown coffee, most SCFCU cooperatives grow coffee under canopies of indigenous trees and enset, a flowering plant in the banana family and a staple food crop in the country.

A TRADITION IN COFFEE
Coffee is featured in a traditional Ethiopian coffee ceremony, performed by women in alternating local homes. It is a time to share news, strengthen the community, and share a peaceful moment with neighbors.
