

Meaningful Encounters

Because life is made of paths that cross and people who find and appreciate each other.

Since they have been made, Ressence watches have been sparking enthusiastic conversations. With the “Meaningful Encounters” series, we want to share some of these captivating meetings with singular watch owners, who have left an indelible mark on their respective fields.

These interviews celebrate human connection by exploring what makes our guests' lives richer and the shared values that draw us together.

Our Meaningful Encounters bring together people from diverse backgrounds, sectors, and career paths, showcasing the incredible richness of human experience. In each story, you will find inspiration, resilience, and an unapologetically honest account of personal journeys.

To kick off the series, we have introduced three inspiring profiles: Joe Gebbia, co-founder of Airbnb, who transformed travel and connections; Mark Cho, The Armoury's entrepreneur, epitomizing craftsmanship and sartorial excellence; and Stefan Sagmeister, the artist and graphic designer, shaped by art, philosophy, and profound human connections.

Stay tuned for monthly releases of more enlightening interviews, allowing you to savour each one and reflect on the wisdom shared by these individuals.

Enjoy the read.
