Getting started and using your HaloPocket

Please charge the battery before use as it is only partly charged. See 'Charging' instructions.

1. Unscrew the base of the unit.
2. Insert the battery into the base of the unit, ensuring the + end of the battery goes in first. Then screw the base back in place.
3. Open the cap and add about ¼ - ½ tsp of salt (up to the blades – not above them). This amount of salt should last 2-3 sessions. This is approx. 8-10 mini spoons.
4. Push cap back in place
5. Press the “on” button for about 10 seconds to ‘pre’ grind the salt. Do this each time you add new salt. Unit will automatically stop after 10 seconds.
6. Remove the cork
7. Now hold the top of the HaloPocket 2-3 inches away from your mouth or nose, ensuring you use the HaloPocket away from all electronics.
8. Keep the HaloPocket slightly tilted and press/hold the “on” button when breathing in and then release when breathing out. You should see a fine salty mist coming from the top of the HaloPocket.
9. Continue to do this 10-12 times, inhaling deeply through your mouth and nose, up to 2-3 times a day.
10. When finished, put the cap back on the HaloPocket and return the unit to its stand or case.
11. Periodic cleaning of the blades should also be carried out, use the provided cleaning brush for this.

Charging

Unscrew the base of the unit, remove the battery and place into the charger. Ensure the battery is inserted the right way round : note the + and – on the charger and the battery should match.

Only the supplied charging device should be used and it must be kept dry and free of salt to prevent possible corrosion.

The light on the charger unit will initially be red and when fully charged will not show. A full charge takes approx 10-12 hours but will last 3-4 weeks. Once charged, place battery back into the HaloPocket the correct way up (+ in first) and then screw the base in place.
