Notes

Any pre-screen books which require clean and pressing will be invoiced separately, once screened.

Any Express submissions are shipped back separately by CGC, meaning you are liable for the U.S. to U.K. return postage cost(s), invoiced for (at cost) before your books are returned to you.

If less than ten books in total are submitted for any CGC SS signing / signing sub-category then the U.S. to U.K. return postage difference will be split between all submitters and invoiced for (at cost) before your books are returned to you.

Payments

We accept payments via. bank transfer or PayPal (+3.5% charge).

We also accept trades, where we will provide you with an offer of 'credit' for the books you're offering to us (both raw and graded accepted), that of which can be used against any services provided by ourselves.

Disclaimer

Although we try and take the upmost care when handling, cleaning and pressing your books, damages are always a possibility, more-so with books which are in a low quality / fragile condition; books of which the pages are brittle, spines which have splits, books which have received previous water damage, have loose paper or pieces that are barely attached.

As it is impossible to both fully foresee or ensure that any damage will not occur, Giles Winstanley will not be held liable for any damage(s) which may occur to books which have any of the above listed defects.

By submitting books to us, the customer acknowledges and accepts the risk for any potential of damage, and that we will not be held legally or monetarily responsible or liable for damage to any book.

This disclaimer also extends to our CGC submissions where Giles Winstanley cannot be held responsible for any grades handed down by CGC or any damages or defects occurred when books are in transit to / from CGC and ourselves.

This disclaimer is not meant to put people off having their books cleaned, pressed or graded, services which aim to do the best by collectors, it is just here as a precautionary measure for all parties.

By completing this form for any of our services you accept the aforementioned disclaimer.
