Tim Cox is one of America's most enduring and authentic cowboy artists. He has made it his life's mission to keep the West alive one painting at a time. Through a lifetime of determination and perseverance Tim has shared the American Cowboy with the world.

Tim & Suzie married in June 1975. They had a humble start with Tim working odd jobs and cowboying for local ranches during the day while also painting long into the night to pursue his dream and put food on the table.

“...I thought of something my grandmother told me when I was a boy. With love and longing in her eyes, she said that she missed how she felt when she would ride her horse, full-out running, flying; the wind blowing through her hair and the freedom she felt. I thought of my granddaughter and how she loves to ride and race her horse, Glory.” ~Tim Cox~

In 1977, Tim received mentorship from CAA president Grant Speed, who advised him to attend Brigham Young University. Here, he studied under one of the West's best fine art teachers, William Whitaker. During this time, Tim continued his late nights painting to provide artwork for Trailside Galleries.

Following the year in Utah, Tim & Suzie returned to live in Arizona. Their life was full of colorful stories of working with cattle and hunting and fishing just to survive in the rustic, bare-bones living conditions of the southern mountains.

In the spring of 1979, they moved to Eagle Creek and celebrated the birth of their son, Jake. This happy event was followed by Tim's most successful show yet, the Texas Art Gallery Sale, but life took a huge turn when their house burned down one night and they barely made it out with baby Jake and their pajamas.

Throughout this trial they were overwhelmed by the kindness of their family and friends.

Once again, they found themselves starting over from scratch.

In the fall of 1980 Tim & Suzie purchased several acres along the banks of Eagle Creek. Tim painted and also worked on neighboring ranches. Suzie started the mail-order print business, "Eagle Creek Enterprises" from their home long before the internet.

In 1986, their family grew once again with the arrival of their daughter, Calla. For years the Cox family lived off the grid where the kids attended a one room school house and lived ranch life while Tim painted and Suzie worked to promote his paintings. The Cox kids are pictured here in the late 1980's & early '90's: Jake (top) and Calla (bottom).

Eventually, Tim & Suzie realized that they must move to a more populated area for the business to grow and the kids to have more academic and athletic opportunities.

Tim Cox Fine Art is more than just a “business” it is a 100% family owned and operated American way of life. The Cox family holds a great amount of pride in preserving the legacy of Tim’s work. Tim creates the masterpieces, while Suzie runs the print business, which entails printing of the reproductions, marketing, sales & shipping. Suzie works with Krista & Carmin on the day-to-day operations. Krista, who is more like family, after so many years with us, handles orders, printing & shipping. Carmin Cox lives in Utah and deals with the website, marketing & social media.

Tim and Suzie raised their kids to carry on the western lifestyle with their families. Both, Jake and Calla, are involved in horses along with their spouses. Jake married focusing on marketing. They are active in raising and riding quarter horses and CJ competes in barrel racing.

Carmin in 2002 and they had their daughter CJ in 2007. Jake is an Equine Veterinarian for South Valley Equine Hospital in Saratoga Springs, UT where he specializes in Equine Reproduction. Carmin works for the art business full time,

Calla married Justin in 2012 and they had their son, Russell just last year. Calla starts colts, trains cutting horses and works with barrel prospects. When she gets a chance, she works on ranches. Justin is a full-time welder; however, he also works with Calla on training the horses. Both Calla and Justin are active in showing cutting horses and Calla runs barrel horses as well. Their life is very much centered around horses and the western life.

Tell me about Open Editions, Limited Editions, Artist Proofs, Canvas Transfers and Giclées

Signed Open Editions and Posters can be reprinted over and over and are more affordable. A Limited Edition has a preset number of signed and numbered prints. Artist Proofs are the artist's personal prints that are given to him as part of the printing - usually 10% of the edition. There is no physical difference between the Limited Editions and Artist Proofs. However, the Artist Proofs are considered more collectable and are valued higher both initially and later on.

Giclées are museum quality reproductions on canvas or paper, which are printed using pigmented inks on archival canvas or on 100% acid free cotton rag paper. Longevity tests show the inks we use to be colorfast for 120 years.

Canvases and Giclées make a great purchase because you do not have to frame them right away. While they are initially more expensive, you can wait to frame later and do not use glass, so the actual framing is cheaper. Also, when you do add a frame, like our barnwood frame, it looks a lot like an original.

We have our very own print shop, publishing and printing Tim’s reproductions. We use a high-quality printer to create reproductions of Tim’s work and have full quality control, taking great pride in our 100% family run, made in the USA business.

Collector’s Tip

Over a period of time, Limited Editions, Artist Proofs, Canvas Transfers and Giclées have a greater chance of appreciating in value than the more affordable Posters and Open Edition Prints.
