

COUNTRY LIFE

EVERY WEEK

SEPTEMBER 14, 2022

Her Majesty The Queen

1926–2022

Pattern power

New fabrics and wallpapers to bring a room to life, chosen by Amelia Thorpe

▲ Treasure trove

Craven Street Flower cotton in Woad, £75 per m, is drawn from a wallpaper fragment found at No 37 Craven Street in central London, which dates from 1731. It forms part of the new collection of fabric and wallpaper designs inspired by the treasures in the archives of English Heritage, produced in collaboration with Designers Guild (020-7351 5775; www.designersguild.com)

▲ Floral symphony

Textile designer extraordinaire Molly Mahon has created Indian Summer, a collection of heavier-weight, washable table linen inspired by the rich colours of India, including the pretty sunshine-yellow Peony tablecloth, from £165 (01342 825700; www.mollymahon.com)

◀ Dramatic reinvention

William Morris's Golden Lily design has been reimaged in vibrant colour and grand scale by House of Hackney, shown here as Jacquard in Sky colourway, £150 per m, as his Quercus motif, as glorious wallpaper in Auric, £195 per roll of 4m by 3m panels (020-7739 3901; www.houseofhackney.com) →

Interiors

▲ Decorative detail

Trianon Blocked Brush fringe, £64 per m, is inspired by 18th-century passementerie and forms part of a new collection of ornate hand-tied tassel and beaded fringes, braids, tie backs and rosettes by Samuel & Sons (020-7351 5153; www.samuelandsons.com)

▲ Tropical touch

Tracing its history back to 1870, Warner House offers an extensive collection of exotic designs, from botanical patterns to animal prints. Shown here is a made-to-measure roman blind in Mustique Jungle linen mix, from £55 per m, and matching wallpaper, £95 per 10m roll, with Bailey love seat in Leopard Noir weave, £2,400, from Warner House (0330 055 2995; www.warner-house.com)

▲ Break for the border

Dynamic interior designer Susie Atkinson is bringing borders back—with a selection of cheerful designs that play with colour, pattern, checks and stripes. Shown here, Ernie in Red, £68 per 10m roll (020-7384 0700; www.susieatkinson.com)

► Egyptian Revival

Soane Britain's new collection, Egyptomania, draws on thousands of years of culture and design—and includes Leopard Palm, a cotton, viscose and flax weave featuring date palms, which is encased within a damask-like lattice. It is shown here in Carnelian, a name derived from the reddish-umber gemstone that was often used decoratively by ancient Egyptians, it costs £300 per m (020-7730 6400; www.soane.com)

