NEW THREADS

Sister by Studio Ashby has launched Jocasta, Sophie Ashby's debut fabric collection. The five new designs have been produced in collaboration with Yarn Collective, a company known for its natural and recycled textiles and climate-positive ethos. The new textiles include Patch in Cerulean (background fabric, below), priced at £170m, inspired by hardwearing and earthy kilims. Afua in Turmeric (front fabric), priced at £157.50m, has its roots in Sophie's husband's (fashion designer Charlie Casely-Hayford) Ghanaian heritage.

CENTRE OF ATTENTION

The Vienna dining table by Tom Faulkner, from £11,170, is inspired by the flowing curves of the art nouveau movement. The table's bold base, finished in Antique Bronze, creates a striking contrast to the Rosso Orobico marble top, with its softened corners creating a convivial seating arrangement, ideal for entertaining. With a range of tabletops and metalwork finishes to choose from, it is a luxury piece that will elevate any interior.

POETIC PALETTE

Atelier Ellis has launched a new collection of handmade paints entitled Beginnings. The palette consists of nine colours including Zumai and Lady Susan, shown, priced at £54 for 2.5ltr. The collection tells the story of home and family, from evocative neutrals to deeper, meditative shades of green and blue. Visitors to the new Atelier Ellis Bath flagship store will be immersed in the colours across each of the four floors of the building. The paints are formulated to be virtually VOC-free – perfect for creating safe and beautiful homes.
