Edison Mercantile, LLC (Edison Grainery”) is proud to be part of the USDA’s National Organic Program, which prohibits the use of genetically modified organisms (GMOs) in certified organic products.

Edison Grainery products are certified organic by Organic Certifiers and bear the USDA organic seal, which verifies that our ingredients have been produced with practices consistent with organic farming and handling. Each of our suppliers is certified organic, and we review their certification status annually. Thus, we know of no genetically modified or genetically engineered organisms associated with our products.

Our current organic certificate may be found at www. Edisongrainery.com
