Preparation

Quick Guide

- Wash Hands in Warm Water.
- Open Microtainer, stand upright and secure the microtainer ready for use.
- Increase blood flow to your finger tips. "See collection tip below".
- Select a fleshy finger tip and wipe the area with sterile wipe.
- Prepare and fire the lancet against finger tip, then wipe again with the sterile wipe.
- Massage finger downwards (not the tip), collecting blood in microtainer.
- Repeat with additional lancets until sample is between the yellow lines. If the sample is not above the first yellow line, your sample will be rejected.
- Secure lid fully.
 - Place back into Zip-Lock bag or Clam Shell and close securely, and invert 6 times.
 - Complete the requisition form, and sign.

OR

- ALTERNATIVELY – we supply the larger gold topped SST vial for a standard blood draw if you prefer to collect your sample using a phlebotomist, no centrifuge is required and return instructions remain the same.

* Warning: Squeezing your finger tip hard damages the blood cells making the sample unusable. Instead milk the palm of the hand, through long strokes down its length to the finger tip, gently encouraging blood flow. Use the sterile wipe to wipe any clotting away to help continue blood collection.
