

Another Sad Love Song

Written By: Angeline Pompei

Theme: Weather, heartbreak, grieving, love, emotions

It's cold

The wind is strong

I'm still walking

Singing songs

Thinking of love

It's the strangest thing

Enough to warm

My toes until the Spring

This Winter

The snowfall's strong

I'm still walking

Singing songs

Thinking about

What could have been

My frosted heart melts as

My head spins
Every sunrise, is a start
Don't want to fall apart
Waiting for flowers to bloom in Spring
Until then I'll write and sing
Love isn't something
You can buy or win
A sad love song is what I sing
Does the pain ever go away
Don't want to cry another rainy day
Left to sing the words I keep within
A sad love song is what I sing
Spring came
Now it's gone
Summer's here
Beach, fun, overall
Another album, another song
It doesn't much at all
I'm missing one little thing
I'm missing you in my joys and wins
Time heals wounds they say
Waiting for my sunny days
Every sunrise, is a start

To fix my broken heart
Waiting for flowers to bloom in Spring
Until then I'll write and sing
Love isn't something
You can buy or win
A sad love song is what I sing
Fall is here, another year is gone
Another year, another sad love song
Winter, Spring, Summer, Fall
I'm still here, standing tall
Another season, another year
Another sunrise, wiping tears
I guess I'll continue to sing
The sun sets another day
I'll wait for it to go away
