She saw cherry blossom trees

She saw children running happily

She sees what she wants to see

Blinded by imaginary

She can only see

What her heart wants to see

Do you live reality

She prefers fantasy

She saw picnics in the park

She saw ants marching in the dark

Rainbow roots with golden stems

She sees through her own lens

She can only see

What her heart wants to see

Do you live reality

She prefers fantasy

Lasciatami cantare, sono tranquillo, in pace

She can only see

What her heart wants to see

Do you live reality

She prefers fantasy

Cherry blossoms in the night

Sun kissed moon mirrored light

She sees rainbows in the dark

Bending light in the park
