

Lonely

Written By: Angeline Pompei

Theme: depression, loneliness, life

They say all you need
Is to tell your story
Uncomfortable maybe
You see
A song won't put it to rest
Even if it were the best
There's just too much to confess
It's a mess
I just need that one hit wonder
A single song like no other
Maybe that will fix all my problems
I can sing
It don't mean a thing
If no one's listening
Could loneliness be meant to be

It's my personality

I can sing

It don't mean a thing

If no one's listening

If loneliness is meant to be

I may as well be, a celebrity

When I listen to the words

We artists sing

I realize it's all the same thing

Soothing, but it don't mean a thing

Loneliness depression

A song is just a weak confession

Only God really knows in heaven

Loneliness, got the best of me

It took me time and family

To realize that I'm not crazy

I can sing

It don't mean a thing

If no one's listening

Could loneliness be meant to be

It's my personality

I can sing

It don't mean a thing

If no one's listening

If loneliness is meant to be

I may as well be, a celebrity

Soothing calming hum with me

Even quietly

I can sing

It don't mean a thing

If no one's listening

Could loneliness be meant to be

It's my personality

I can sing

It don't mean a thing

If no one's listening

If loneliness is meant to be

I may as well be, a celebrity

If your lonely

Call a friend
