The staff on the ward were so kind, so hard working. My unicorn consultant is lovely. But. I honestly feel abused by our health 'care' system. It's ok if you can splash the cash. I haven't the energy or pain free braincells to fight much less splash. ( thats the ranty bit)

Growth hormone regulates body composition, body fluids, muscle and bone growth, and mental function. When an individual has a growth hormone deficiency, it means that their pituitary gland cannot make enough growth hormone for the body's needs. This can result in a variety of medical problems; however, growth hormone replacement very often improves most symptoms of this condition.
