The temporalis muscle originates at the temporal bone and inserts at the coronoid process of the mandible, it is a fan shaped muscle on each side of the skull. It is a major muscle involved in moving the temporomandibular joint (Jaw joint muscle). Excess tension here can be a big cause of headaches. This muscle works a lot and gets brutally tight over time. Clenching the teeth due to things like stress and anxiety will greatly increase this tension. knowing it

Testosterone cypionate is a long acting ester of testosterone which is increasingly difficult to find. Before the scheduling of anabolics in the U.S., this was the most common form of testosterone available to athletes. Cypionat had gained a reputation as being slightly stronger than enanthate and became the testosterone of choice for many.

Steroid Class: Testosterone is the parent steroid from which every other steroid, and each subsequent steroid class, is derived. Primary Use: Naturally produced by both men and women alike, testosterone is essential for the normal physiological functioning of both sexes. It is the primary sex hormone found in men and a secondary sex hormone in ...
