Swimwear under RM150 for your upcoming beach vacation

JOLIN LEE Writer

Knowing Malaysians, we'll take every chance we can get to sink our feet in the sand and just lay on the beach. Public holidays are indeed numerous in KL — that's just phrasing it mildly. Trips or staycations are no doubt one of the best ways to disconnect and relax, and thanks to the many long weekends here in KL, we get to do that quite often. These trips don't have to be remotely far either. Have you seen these private islands in Malaysia?

The moment you have that golden opportunity to travel, swimwear becomes a necessity. You'll be searching high and low for that one perfect swimwear but sometimes the price can be the deciding factor. To some, price is not an issue if the bikini looks great, but there are also others that find it questionable to spend so much on such little fabric.
