Reviewed by	The 2015 Chateauneuf du Pape Hommage a Odette Bernard is ostensibly this estate's top cuvée, with the same assemblage as the Grande Reserve (80% Grenache, 15% Syrah, 5% Mourvèdre). It does offer captivating aromas of ripe cherries and subtle clove and allspice notes, creamy-supple tannins and traces of silk on the spicy finish.

MATT WALLS Rhône 2014 Special Report

91 Château Beauchêne Châteauf-neuf-du-Pape Grande Réserve

100-year-old Grenache, 50-year-old Syrah and Mourvèdre. Immediately impressive, spicy, peppery nose – very promising. Medium-bodied, well balanced, the fruit has good ripeness but isn't overly sweet. It has a very tailored shape, and finishes savoury and structured. Perhaps not the longest finish, but this has real interest and detail. 2016-2022

Reviewed by 👤 Joe Czerwinski	By a slight margin, my favorite of the current trio of releases from Beauchene was the 2015 Chateauneuf du Pape Vignobles de la Serriere, which is a blend of 65% Grenache, 30% Syrah and 5% Mourvèdre. It combines floral aromas with scents of ripe cherries on the nose, then delivers layers of spice on the long, silky finish.

The 2016 Chateauneuf du Pape Blanc Vignobles de la Serrière features a bit of struck match complexity to go with fruit flavors of orange rind and lime zest. It does seem a bit narrow at first, but it grows in richness as it sits in the glass, ending long and refreshing.

Côtes du Rhône Grande Réserve 2016

Decanter

30 to 50 year old vines have produced a wine with an inviting, expressive, slightly peppery nose. A medium-weight style, it has freshness and aromatic detail, with gently saline tannins and bright acidity riding in on the finish. This would make a great house wine, at home or in a restaurant. Well balanced and satisfying.
